Directions to Abriachan Hall

By Car from Inverness

Leave Inverness on the A82 towards Drumnadrochit/Fort William. Take a right at the second turn off to Abriachan, approximately 7 miles from Inverness (do not take the first turn off to Abriachan/Blackfold which is only a mile out of Inverness) Loch Ness should be on your left before you turn right- if not, you haven't gone far enough. Take this single track road, which will lead you steeply up a hill, and follow it for about mile. The hall will be on your right.

By Car from Beauly

From Beauly take the A862 heading towards Inverness. Follow the road around a long bend to the left and over the Lovat Bridge. Continue for less than a mile and then turn right towards Kiltarlity (A833). Follow this road for just over a miles (passing Belladrum and Brockie's Lodge) until you come to a staggered crossroads after a straight and take the left turning signposted Foxhole. Just after crossing a wooden bridge the road bends to the right and climbs a steep hill through a beech wood. Follow this for 2.5 miles, passing numerous houses, barns and fields of Alpacas. Keep following the road until you reach the top of a steep hill, with forest on the left. You will get to a Y junction, with a sign for Abriachan and Abriachan Forest Trails. Take this right turn, and follow the road for 2 miles until you come to a Y-shaped junction. Turn right. After a few hundred metres, you will see the hall to your left.
